Tailor-made for the Test - The Daily Telegraph, August 09

If you have been inspired or irked by England's performances in the Ashes series against Australia, you have a unique opportunity to put your questions to the England captain when the team tours South Africa next year.

Former England cricketer Allan Lamb and Cleveland Travel have joined forces to create Global Sports Travel, which offers tailor-made travel arrangements to some of the world's major sporting events. As part of this trip, it will host a "question and answer" session with England captain, Andrew Strauss, Sir Ian Botham, and former South African stars Jonty Rhodes and Barry Richards.

This exclusive trip, which will include places in private suites in the President's Pavilion at the Third Test between England and South Africa in Cape Town from January 3 to 8, will be in the company of Allan Lamb and a number of former cricketers. Accommodation will be at the five-star Table Bay Hotel and there will also be a private wine tasting evening hosted by one of South Africa's top winemakers, Kevin Arnold. The package, which is available to just 48 people, costs £3,295 per person.

Tailor-made trips to the other Test matches can be arranged, as well as other pre- or post-match arrangements.
